Ben jumped from bed as soon as the first bit of sun peeped through his window. He grabbed his backpack from his closet and opened it on the floor. Ben put in some of his favorite things to take with him on his trip to visit Grandpa. He put in a book on building forts, a book on making go-carts, and a new book he had gotten from the library about a kid detective who creates his own spy gear. He also put in a model car kit and his stuffed bear. He was ready to go! Going to visit his grandfather for a week by himself was always Ben's favorite part of summer vacation. Grandpa would take him fishing and to baseball games. Grandpa also taught Ben how to fix things around the house.

Last year, when he was eight years old, Ben had learned how to replace a broken doorknob and how to fix a leaky faucet. Grandpa was patient and did not mind taking many hours to show Ben how to use his tools. Ben's mom stuck her head in his bedroom door. "Grandpa's here," she said with a smile. Ben grabbed his backpack and ran into the kitchen where Grandpa was waiting. "Ready, big guy?" asked Grandpa. "Or do you want to eat breakfast before we leave?" "Ready," said Ben. As he kissed his mother goodbye, he felt his stomach rumble. "We can eat later!"

Interviewer: Considering you belong to one of the glitziest professions there is, along with showbiz, you seem to have your feet pretty much on the ground.

Helena Christensen: I truly believe that who you are is because of your family, you know, the way that you were brought up, the love that you get from your family, the discipline from them. It all goes back to childhood no matter what happens later in your life. And also, probably, coming from Denmark has kept me very grounded because there's not too much about fame, the same way that other countries are obsessed with it. In Denmark it's who you are and you shouldn't think you are more than anybody else. And, all in all, I would really say that it has helped me coming from a country like Denmark.

9. Helena considers that a person's way of being is due to

- a. that person's friends
- b. that person's family
- c. that person's family and friends
- d. all kind of factors

10. In Denmark people

- a. are not preoccupied with fame
- b. are obsessed with fame
- c. crave for fame
- d. consider fame useless.

11. Coming from Denmark

- a. helped Helena in her career
- b. was an insignificant aspect
- c. was the best thing in Helena's life
- d. didn't matter too much
